Mrs. O’Brien’s Guide to the Golden Rule

From the creator and co-author of Late Nite Catechism, comes the interactive comedy, Mrs. O’Brien’s Guide to the Golden Rule! Just when you thought it was safe to go back into the classroom, Mother Superior shows up! The show is a funny refresher course in a modern look at the Golden Rule. Mrs. O’Brien is in charge and she has her own opinions on just about everything, from the shade of your lipstick to the I-Pod in your pocket.

As the producers of the show note:
Our new character, Mrs. O’Brien, is a former nun with an attitude. Once a nun, always a nun in spirit. She left the convent and is now working for the archdiocese as the head of its fundraising department. So many people in our audiences have responded to our new character because they no longer remember the nun in habit. But they do love the religious humor of our shows, with our new character. And...nuns today don’t wear a habit. So our new character fits in perfectly with the idea of what nuns and ex-nuns are doing today: still trying to spread the good word through religious humor.
Reviews

“Boffo! Fantastic! Great!"
-- Deacon Charlie Stanton, Parish Manager, St. Joan of Arc Parish, San Ramon, CA

“I thoroughly enjoyed this presentation... We never quit laughing!!”

“We had a ball!! We laughed so hard we were wiping away the tears. My compliments on a great show!”
-- Carol Bibat, Chicago

“I braved the Saturday snow storm and went to see "Mrs. Mary Margaret O’Brien’s Guide to the Golden Rule." I laughed until I hurt. It was lots of fun.”
-- Carmen Velez, Chicago

“My husband and I saw the performance at St. Joan of Arc Parish. It was hilarious! In fact, my husband swore the actress was a real former nun!! Thank you for writing such a fun play.
-- Shirley Corallo, Dublin, CA
